Brother Klinepeter was presented a framed proclamation, by Past Commander Greg Kline, noting his many years

1913 News:

A veteran of the '60s is said to have made application for a pension alleging as his disability a "wound in the abdomen by a 10-ound cannon ball." Investigation proved that he had not misstated his case. He had been struck by a spent ball which was rolling leisurely along and which came to a stop when it bounded over an obstruction and struck 'him' lightly!

Comrade Samuel E Landis, aged 75 years, died at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Geo Steck, August 13, 1913, after a lingering illness. During the civil war, Comrade Landis served in Company C, 208th Pennsylvania Infantry, and was a member of Post 58, Harrisburg. The funeral was in charge of Post 78, G.A.R. of Harrisburg. Interment was made in the cemetery at Union Deposit.

Comrade Elias Erisman died at home in Harrisburg on August 11, 1913. He previously lived in Middletown. During the civil war, he served with Commander E, 9th Pennsylvania Cavalry and was prominent in the G.A.R. circles. The Funeral was held from his daughter Mrs. Philip Ettele home and was in charge of Post 58 G.A.R. of Harrisburg. Interment was made in family plot in the Middletown cemetery.

Brother a Duty You Owe

My brother do you remember the night you were received into the Camp? Do you remember the obligation that you assumed with up-lifted hand, that you would do all for the advancement of the organization that was in your power. That you would attend the meetings as often as you could conveniently do so. Did not these words leave an impression upon you at the time? Me-thinks if they did that we would see you at the meetings more regular. Oh, how many are inclined to stay away, or can be seen on the street corners loafing, engaged in talking that don't amount to anything, when perchance one who has been faithful, active and there continually, passes such a one and inquires of him "are you going to Camp tonight?" he generally answers you, "No, I have business to attend to tonight." Or, "I am too tired." Or, "Camp keeps in too late." But, if by chance you were to come back that way after the session of the Camp, you would very likely find these same brothers still standing on the side walk talking in the same manner as when you first met them.

The day is long, therefore you have abundant of time to attend to matters of this kind before opening of Camp. Come on time and lend your assistance in the work, and then the meetings can be opened on time and there will be no reason to remain late. The most flimsy excuse, I think, is to say "I am tired." If you be such a one don't you think it prudent to stay at home instead of loafing around the street corners? Not too tired to go to the picture show every night in the week. Not too tired to loaf around some cigar store or pool room until late into the night. But too tired to come to Camp for an hour or two once a week. If you be such a one you better go and hide yourself so that no other brother can see you. Remember that you are setting an example and others may follow your actions.

But when sickness overtakes these brothers, or they are on the verge of the chilly stream, then how alert they become. Then they can arrange their business so as to get to the meetings. Not too tired to come then. And how they want the Camp to do her part and the Treasurer to look up their account to see if they are in good standing. What interest they take in the matter now. But when you want their help at Camp before, how ready they are to refuse with an "excuse me from taking part."

Brothers, what meaneth this? Are you not interested in the Camp? If not it behooves you to become so at once. Don't be a dead member, but a live one. Awake from thy slumbers. We know that you have been comfortable, and that your rest has been sweet, and your bed soft, but it is morning now. Wake up.

Brothers,

Sadly, the time has come for me to bid farewell to General J. F. Hartranft Camp #15 of the Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War.

With my existing personal and professional responsibilities, including the duties of Commander of Camp #503, I will be unable to devote the time necessary to be an active member of Camp #15. My involvement in the camp was negligible in 2012, and, rather than continue this situation indefinitely, I will take my leave.

I am and always shall be grateful for the wonderful opportunities bestowed upon me by my membership in Camp #15, and I shall always cherish the true friends I made along our journey together.

Our Order goes forward.

In Fraternity, Charity, and Loyalty,

John Deppen
Commander

General J.P.S. Gobin Camp #503

Sons of Union Veterans of the Civil War

EDITOR'S NOTE: BROTHER JOHN IS PAST CAMP COMMANDER OF GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT CAMP 15.

Camp 15 wishes only the greatest activities and continued accomplishments for Brother John and camp 503!

New Camp Members

During the fall of 2012, camp 15 welcomed new member, Daniel Lute! His lineage membership into Hartranft Camp is based upon his ancestor, his Great-Great Grandfather, David Lute, having served in Company G, 206th Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers 1864.

Brother Daniel, above left, was born in Johnstown, resides with his family in Lower Paxton Township east of Harrisburg! Center is our Life Member Dave Klinepeter waiting to congratulate Brother Dan and far right is 2012 camp commander Stan Zellers, reading from the rituals. Camp 15 is delighted to have Brother Dan among our brotherhood!

Likewise, camp 15 welcomes Wayne E Motts of Orrtanna, Pennsylvania. Wayne is an eagle scout! His lineage membership is based upon his Great-Great-Grandfather, William W Webb, a veteran of the 39th Kentucky Vol Inf. Regiment 1862 – 1865.

In the spring of 2012, Brother Wayne was appointed as the CEO of the National Civil War Museum at Harrisburg!

Hartranft Camp 15, Harrisburg, is happy to have Brother Wayne as our newest member into our grand brotherhood in Fraternity, Charity, and Loyalty!

150th ANNIVERSARY OF THE
EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION

JANUARY 1, 1863 by the President of the United States

A PROCLAMATION

"That on the first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, all persons held as slaves within any State or designated part of a State, the people whereof shall then be in rebellion against the United States, shall be then, thenceforward, and forever free, and the Executive Government of the United States, including the military and naval authority thereof, will recognize and maintain the freedom of such persons, and will do no act or acts to repress such persons, or any of them, in any efforts they may make for their actual freedom

"That the Executive will, on the first day of January afore said, by proclamation, designate the States and parts of States, if any, in which the people thereof, respectively, shall then be in rebellion against the United States: and the fact that any State, or the people thereof, shall on that day be, in good faith, represented in the Congress of the United States by members chosen thereof at elections wherein a majority of the qualified voters of such State shall have participated, shall, in the absence of strong countervailing testimony, be deemed conclusive evidence that such State, and the people thereof, are not then in rebellion against the United States"

Now, therefore I, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States, by virtue of the power in me vested as Commander-in-Chief, of the Army and Navy of the United States in time of actual armed rebellion against the authority and government of the United States, and as a fit and necessary war measure for surprising said rebellion, do on the first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and in accordance with my purpose so to do publicly proclaimed for the full period of one hundred days, from the day first above mentioned, order and designate as the States and parts of States wherein the people thereof respectively, are this day in rebellion against the United States, the following to wit:

(A LONG LIST OF STATES AND PARTS OF STATES FOLLOWED)

And by virtue of the power, and for the purpose aforesaid, I do order and declare that all persons held as slaves within aid designated States, and parts of States, are, and henceforward shall be free, and that the Executive government of the United States, including the military and naval authorities thereof, will recognize and maintain the freedom of said people.

And I hereby enjoin upon the people so declared to be free to abstain from violence, unless in necessary self-defense, and I recommend to them that, in all cases when allowed, they labor faithfully for reasonable wages.

And I further declare and make known, that such persons of suitable condition, will be received into the armed service of the United States to garrison forts, positions, stations, and other places, and to man vessels of all sorts in said service.

And upon this act, sincerely believed to be an act of justice, warranted by the Constitution, upon military necessity, I invoke the considerate judgment of mankind and the gracious favor of Almighty God.

In witness whereof, I have here unto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed Done at the City of Washington, this first day of January, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the eighty-seventh.

By the President: ABRAHAM LINCOLN
WILLIAM H. SEWARD, Secretary of State

The original Emancipation Proclamation is in the National Archives in Washington D. C.

It is 5 pages long!

SPECIAL NOTE this did not free the slaves in Delaware, Maryland, Kentucky and Missouri which started in the UNION during the war. All slaves were not free till the thirteenth amendment to the Constitution in 1865. The movie "LINCOLN" now showing, deals very strongly with this subject.

I highly recommend that you see this movie. --- DJK.

B.F. John's Pursuit of Lee

AUTHOR IS BENJAMIN F. JOHNS, CIVIL WAR VETERAN OF COMPANY A, 49TH PENNSYLVANIA VOLUNTEER INFANTRY. ENROLLED AT AGE 22 AT FRANKLIN COUNTY.

A flag of truce was then sent into our lines and in a very short time I saw our Adjutant General Captain Colt, nephew of the inventor of Colt's revolver coming down through the woods. He rode up to within a few feet of me and stopped. He saw me and said "Why Johns' what are you doing here?" Why I am a prisoner Captain. Well, said he get a gun and help out with those fellows, it's all over now. The man who had captured me gave me his gun and said, "Now I am your prisoner" and apologized for taking my haversack saying he would not have done it but he hadn't had anything to eat for four days.

I can claim one thing that not many union soldiers can claim, and that is, I was an advisory member of a rebel council of war and as I heard Ewell say the next day as we were taking them back to Burkesville Junction, if it had not been for the information I gave him he would have made another attempt to break through our lines and hundreds of men would have been killed. I missed one good thing that day by being too much overjoyed at getting my freedom; I did not get a flag. I thought a soldier had to capture or kill the flag bearer in order to get the furlough and gold metal but when I saw the cavalry lashing along the line snatching tags here and there I began to look around for one myself but they were all gone. I got the flagstaff of the 10th Alabama and gave it to an ambulance driver. He turned it in and secured the furlough and gold medal. Whoever retrieved the tag had torn it from the staff but had left enough to identify it as belonging to the 10th Alabama. This affair got to General Edwards ear and he ordered me to report to his headquarters. He asked me all about the tag staff business and I told him I thought I had to kill or capture the man in order to make it a bona fide capture and I think so yet, but the General said if I had kept the flagstaff he would have given me the reward offered!

Quite a number of our men were sent down through the woods to line up the prisoners and take them out into a field and while they were getting together a rebel captain, a fine looking man of courteous bearing came to me and handed me his sword saying with a smile on his face, "corporal, I surrender my sword to you." Another man gave me a large navy revolver. Both I gave away. Next day my regiment was ordered to take the prisoners to Burkesville Junction 12 miles. We had at the head of the column General Ewell, General Custis Lee, General Kirshaw, Brig General Case, Brig General Barton, Brig General Hunton, Commodore Tucker, Commodore Hunter, Master Porter, and Capt Simmes and a large number of field, line and naval officers. Officers and men numbered about 5012.

It rained nearly all day and we were from 10 am until night reaching Burkesville Junction. Were we out of rations and the prisoners were in a starving condition, one little fellow, 15 years old, wanted me to take old Ewell off his mule and give it to him as he had captured the mule and believed he ought to have it. I told him my officers would not allow me to do it. I pitied the poor little fellow and gave him my gun blanket to keep him from getting wet.

He belonged to an Alabama regiment and I would like to know if he is living. When we parted at Burkesville Junction, I gave him the last money I had, a 2 greenback and told him when he reached Petersburg he could get something good.
